a new "Manhattan Energy Project"?

Trillions of tax dollars dumped down a bottomless pit.

What happened to Jesus' promises recorded 2,000 years ago?

When you finish reading this document you will possess solutions enough to make you wealthier than any person in human history. Information that has roots back over 3,000 years. The wealth no king or president or dictator has ever held in their hands to give their citizens no matter how many presidential election convention commentators -some whom I greatly respect- say "the candidate has everything a person could want".

All collated here in one document ~ minus the padding many authors stuff into their writings to justify the $19.95 they charge you. You and your family members are looking at the rest of your life and need all the help you can get right now, not 10 years from now. Your time is very valuable. You want answers to the first six lines in the heading above.

I have them.

Real meat and potatoes answers at no cost but for the time to read. No slick sales pitch at the end. I will however step on a goodly number of people's toes saying what needs said, but not to be mean. A lot of young people already agree with religious comments I make. Older people might take offense but, educating younger people who have not yet been completely stripped of optimism must outweigh offending a few older people who, to be quite honest, are at times rather disagreeable sorts who do not know their game ended hours ago.

Lightning, striking the rock twice on August 31; W. M. Riley, writing and inventing with a Bible faith that one Jewish man long ago said if we had it the size of a mustard seed (faith in his heavenly father JHVH) we would be able to move mountains. He was right. He also said to love our neighbor, and that if someone pressed us for a ride take them two miles, not charge them 2 x $19.95, and that if we saw our neighbor in distress we should help them.

Neighbor, you are in serious distress.

Lightning, striking the rock twice for a flow of life-giving water.

Manhattan Energy Project:

100 years ago when the world population was below 2 billion, people had the luxury of making some really boneheaded mistakes. The planet could still bump, grind and hiccup along absorbing manmade abuses and mistakes. When world war came well, that was real bad, but at the same time people could not help but notice that the manufacture of war materials raised the economic status of the citizens in many a country. Chemists possessing great intellect ushered in an age of highly poisonous chemical products of need and convenience, this newfound and rapidly expanding mindset that planet Earth could take anything little ol' us dished onto its dinner plate.

All of these new income sources raised the amount of taxes those citizen's governments could charge for the pleasure of living within their borders... so war preparations and design became a means to a very wonderful end: widespread economic prosperity. Even the major "Christian" religions got behind that wagon and pushed for all they were worth. It became socially acceptable to manufacture swords for Rome, sword repellent for Moscow and sword defense missile shield secrets to Beijing because they all had the blessing of their various religious bodies who were growing fat off these conflicts by driving people into church pews seeking God's help.

The evil of war outweighed on Wall Street-blessed balance sheets with scales re-designed to allow for it so that in the end what has occurred is we have all become wrapped around this manufactured reality that to keep a stable prosperous economy we have to stay employed 24/7 to eliminate our trading partners with weapons whenever an overwhelming case presents itself for it. The Colt 45 Peacemaker pistol did not stop 19th century killing; neither did a Mutual Assured Destruction Policy. The Colt 45 led to the Gatling gun; fear of M.A.D. did not stop the deployment of a million rounds a second rail gun for "crowd control" (i.e. keeping our trading partners lined up against a virtual firing squad wall if they "get out of line", and they know it).

Should we panic?

The world population in 2008 passed 6.666666 billion people and climbing even after lives lost from weather disasters, tornadoes, hurricanes, tsunamis, plus the diseases sometimes spawned by them. Add to that the aftermath food shortages, the sum total of that has killed thousands worldwide. In August 2008 Florida got transformed by Tropical Storm Fay into another New Orleans Katrina-level waterpark disaster except they had eels and other assorted deadly fish and others with very sharp teeth swimming their flooded streets.

Who can ever forget the terrible earthquake that hit China in 2008? Reno Nevada was hit by a string of back-to-back quakes that to my knowledge has not stopped yet. They quit reporting it in the News after the number passed 170 or the magnitude was 4.0 Richter and lower, seeking to minimize the Nevadan population from panicking I suppose.

Should we panic some more?

If it would help to panic then I would say go right ahead, be my quest; now is not soon enough. Some people are calling for a new Manhattan Project for Energy. Unfortunately that will not likely work because the original project was for solving one lone problem: to explode ~release the energy from~ an atomic nucleus. You should understand that when they finally succeeded it was an accident, a fluke. It was not all those learned men's massed brain power that solved the nuclear bomb; it was solved by Chance. They were all going the wrong way, so some said "Divine Providence" stepped in not Chance.

So even if a new Manhattan Project for Energy was funded and undertaken would it stand a chance of success without chance? This is incredibly unlikely. This is not 1945. The problems this planet now faces has in fact multiplied like a bowling for snowballs down a very steep hill in winter but to the point there are now many exponential offshoot snowballs, all combining into a Negative Synergy from Hell straight off Satan's plate to you and me that spells a high certainty of death to all mankind far exceeding the worst nightmare scenarios from the Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombs.

The Manhattan Project succeeded then either by Divine Providence or a Divine Providence-level of Chance to make the nuclear process accidentally work. Point is, the nuclear solution took more than those men had within them to give. It is true that physicists today are advanced above and beyond those men back then, and they do have some amazing Beowulf clusters of computers doing trillions of calculations per second, but will their computers ever decide to cry out => God Almighty We Need You?

Not bloody likely. A computer is a stupid instrument that can only do what it is programmed to do. If the computer programmers fail to program into them at what point to cry out for God's Mercy from his Heaven-based Person and from his Kingdom (Government) now under the guidance of his son Jesus Christ they will never be capable of doing it in a million years of trillion calculations per second pre-programmed to not do options they could not foresee happening.

Check-Mate. A sane person would be on his knees praying to God not a Man-operated Science Tower of Babel on a university campus.

It is not so much a question of ability and yet, yes it is; it is also a question of direction, vector and the force of having the correct objective from the beginning of a project. If the project mission is to pull out all the stops even to the point of beseeching the Almighty for some major help or, if you prefer, admitting they are in serious need of someone's wandering Ghost of a Chance god, then what does that mean? Failure? At this point in time -plus lacking Nostradamus' crystal ball- we cannot say, but what we can derive with accuracy is that a humbleness of heart is likely missing from the new Goliath Team that thinks it is David also and can stone any enemy it wants without help from a God Almighty.

Which they have in fact already shown many times they are able to do.

During 2006 to 2008 the American consumer has had to pay a very high price for gasoline and diesel. Trucks using diesel to make their pickups and deliveries has increased fuel expense, thereby decreasing the value of consumer dollars toward purchasing needed items such as food. One early answer was to divert food and livestock grains (corn) to making ethanol. This also added to the rise in marketplace food prices even very much cattle.

It has been a valiant but limited attempt to control a very large problem called Global Warming now called Global Climate Change. Many millions of gallons of reduced gasoline sales 2007-2008 what has been the result? In North America a noticeable reduction in August temperatures has occurred; on the surface it looks like the polar bears might be saved after all if the polar ice builds back fast enough. However there are other results just beginning to gel. The 2009 Farmer's Almanac, famous for weather prediction accuracy seed planting times and so forth, has just come out saying the Winter of 2008 is going to be specially much colder for North Americans.

So the Administration, with all its access to expert scientists and supercomputers, the whole lot of em have managed to reverse Global Climate Change to coincide with the upcoming deadly-cold winter season? That is indeed what looks like will happen shortly just 4+ months from now. Perhaps we should pray to avoid any need for winter travel.

They coerced the driving Public to burn less gasoline by skyrocketing upward the cost of fuel in a valiant attempt to solve Global Warming by purposely escalating the cost of fuel? So now the calendar dictates that all the fuel saved by that artificially jerked up summer price is going to have us all burning more winter fuel, which would then be right in time to feed into and increase global dimming ocean surface heating for next summer's hurricane season?

Man alone does not possess the necessary grasp of all the variables to control Earth's weather not even if they had all my engines, but even if we did you still can't please all the people all the time so somebody is still likely to start shooting real bombs (or economic bombs or poison bombs) on some other country to achieve the best weather patterns for the benefit of their nation and the rest can go take a vacation in Darfur or Somalia or somewhere deep in the Congo rainforest to be bitten by big angry black hornet cross-bred Army ants.

Well, it is one way to win an argument over environmental concerns.

In the space of 100 years we have seen a fearsome many-headed beast raise its Revelation-Biblical head. It appears we are no match for this beast. Any move we make results in a cascading of even more branches of negative results, in essence spawning off other disasters that even circle around and re-combine almost symbiotically. It is as if this beast has attained a life of its own and is birthing new beasts, each one a mighty foe to mankind and womankind on a level we have never faced before.

Someone has suggested to me that there is some secret world group planning to kill off 4 billion people to reduce the beast back to a former size. That plan might have worked if they had done it long before now. But "they" {if they actually do exist} must be horror-stricken in the knowledge they have lost their window of opportunity to turn back the hands of time in such a manner.

If they killed off that many people now it would set in motion a negative and opposite reaction that would kill them as surely as we're sitting here reading this document. The water content carried inside 4 billion human bodies would likely drown every land animal and continent on Earth, cause a spread of disease far larger than any plaque on Egypt and inundate the farm land with saltwater and eels and snakes much like we just saw happen in Florida.

I have no axe to grind with China nor any chip on my shoulder, but I do have a bone to pick. In the mid-1980's I had a really good truck driving job for a company named McClendon Trucking. I made a good paycheck and we all got along real well, even with dispatchers, not always an easy thing to do. I bought some undergarments made in China, not knowing there was chemicals in them that would be released into my crotch area by workday sweat.

This garbage was absorbed through skin pores opened wide by body heat. It attacked my nervous system so that I got really upset and quit the job. I was literally going crazy, my brain filled with southeast Asian Agent Orange poisons.

An early beginning of a Global Economy did that to me, an economy championed by people who now think they are smart enough to fix this planet, and I am telling you there isn't any way in heaven or earth they can do that. They do not possess the awesome knowledge of God <> they just think they can do God's work. I know they cannot because look what has become so painfully obvious since the 1980's! They began dumping their wastes into toys they shipped to American children. I suspect they rid themselves of leachate and other deadly wastes hidden inside the very packaging products and plastics and packaging inks used for those toys.

Ditto for the clothes. My son bought a shirt from Target Stores. I washed it prior to him wearing. It had an awesome bad smell to it. I washed it again, leaving it soak for 8 hours in Arm & Hammer detergent powder, dishwashing antibiotic soap and Pine-Sol cleaner. In the second rinse I added fabric softener. After drying it smelled the same awesome crummy smell it had before any of that, a toxic dump kind of smell having an odor worthy of a landfill, contained in a polo shirt purchased from a foreign vendor.

There is no hope for this world the way it is going. It needs a new rulership under a heavenly King who can never be bought off and bribed and would never be so incredibly stupid as to allow his enemy to fix a baby bottle for his children to suckle & drink from or wear diapers made of stuff we quickly throw into the nearest hazardous products incinerator. I have nothing against Chinese people or Russian people or any people til they show conclusively they cannot be trusted with the care of children's lives and future health, preferably without lasting genetic damage to following generations.

But currently many leaders get kickbacks so they can kick back in retirement and watch the whiners keep working. Am I a whiner too? Is it whining to recount personal damages that were real or of losing a job directly caused by poisons from a foreign land {or local doctors} that does not give a flying leap off a tall building what it does to anybody on another continent? No, not whining at all => a simple and honest historical accounting of inflicted damages. Extrapolate my one incident and lost job out into what is happening throughout this land.

We are all wearing a bullseye target on our back. If they kill us they just have more room for fresh immigrants who cannot see the swamp they are walking into, or climbing a fence into however be the case. All they and their children are is new bodies for the machine to keep running once native born Americans have been interred into an early cemetery plot after going through Jack Daniels' delerium tremens convulsions and death.

Most of these situations will still exist no matter which Party's presidential and vice-presidential candidates win this November 2008. They will tell you we can defeat these global problems. That is commonly referred to as tickling your ears. Nuclear power plants cannot be built fast enough to meet demand. Windmills in Texas up to Canada still requires a $60 billion investment to start rebuilding the powerlines & antiquated 60/100 year old power grid system that is on the verge of collapse following closely behind our disintegrating bridge infrastructure and an increasing number of airplane failures from a worn-out mode of air transportation industry, much of the old flying junk being kept artificially solvent by double-dipped taxpayer bailout dollars {two ticket costs per flight}.

The world is ripe for an assuring father figure.
This new leader now has weapons worthy of Brainiac.
Your survival is not necessary; only their own and their family.
You & your family that survives the increasing poison-by-products holocaust: 0.
Your future looks very bleak under any government today because for one thing look at the way they have all agreed to not build a one of my zero emissions engine systems.

They have all lined themselves up against God's Engines,
i.e. any engine system that smacks of divine authorship
using His laws of physics rather than combustion fuel.
Put your eggs in the correct basket.

It is true that Jehovah's Witnesses do not vote in any country's elections but we do vote! We get baptized to a higher heavenly kingdom that has its King Jesus Christ, associate kings \(144,000 saints chosen according to scripture\). This is the government we give our primary allegiance to because it has the higher claim of Creatorship and yet we obey the laws of our respective lands too. We work hard on our neighbor's behalf in numerous and varied ways. In studying the Bible we learn how God plans to resolve all these life-threatening environmental issues one day so we decided to "cast our vote" for Him, a God who said long ago He is the only God and exacts exclusive devotion that we not be serving any other gods or saluting star-shaped pictures of His stars.

Whoever these world leaders are who seem apparently to have decided together to stall my engines, they could very well be thinking they are doing you a favor in not radically "disrupting" your lives. Or they could be hoarding nuts for winter hoping to make them last til 2099 too. We may never know. I see no need to conduct a witch hunt. However, we are eagerly awaiting a worldwide change for the better that has been repeatedly prophesied across multiple writers, multiple scientists beginning with the "ancients of old" in at least 3 different sources of prophecies touting a very high reliability rating.

This is a really poor time to deny the very God who had written into his prophetic word that an improved world is to be set up in our time, days of intense critical distress-filled days and nights that are making men's hearts faint with fear for whether their family is living into tomorrow or tomorrow's coffins. The words written by Amos at Chapter 3 verse 7 comforts us "For the Sovereign Lord Jehovah will not do a thing unless he has revealed his confidential matter to his servants the prophets."

The world has gotten too large for one single prophet, so a "prophet class" was raised up to preach these messages when the previous prophet classes lost sight of their true purpose they once held to, fell down on the job and stopped going to people's doors, those who became part of the problem. You know who they are. Jehovah's Witnesses picked up the Kingdom baton when they dropped it or otherwise disqualified themselves from being allowed to carry it any more.

The Bride of Christ got replaced because she began having intimate relations with this world's governments, even advising parishioners to vote in their elections. They jumped ship and lost Jehovah's blessing, which is why none of their members were blessed with my engines. Is this true?

Is it possible? Well, all you need do is open a Bible and read it for yourself at Daniel 4:17 "By the decree of watchers the thing is, and [by] the saying of holy ones the request is, to the intent that people living may know that the Most High is Ruler in the kingdom of mankind and that to the one whom he wants to, he gives it and he sets up over it even the lowliest one of mankind."

There aren't a lot of people lower -disabled- than I am unless they are in mighty poor shape, as my medical issues have been magnified by gravity due to my size. But this is the Bible's pattern. God had it written and says He will never say something unless it returns to Him completed whatever it was sent out to do.

His Word is a legal document that binds Him as well as all who would want to live in that new world. => Isaiah 55:11 "so my word that goes forth from my mouth will prove to be. It will not return to me without results, but it will certainly do that in which I have delighted, and it will have certain success in that for which I have sent it."

Politicians will alter their course and ideas any number of times but the Bible has never flip-flopped. Century to next century Bible writers stayed on course and on message because it was God giving them spirit-quickenened continuity and insight. Anyone who reads from the Bible after taking off the blinders they likely had water-slapped over their eyes at birth will see the following Promises:

- 1) Planet Earth will last forever => "but the earth remains forever"
- 2) The Earth will be inhabited forever => "earth given to children"
- 3) People will live on the Earth forever => "formed to be inhabited; I am JHVH"
- 4) Sickness will be ended and death brought to nothing => "1 2 3 4 5 6 Jesus"
- 5) Abundant food supplies purchased without cost forever => "72:16 and Free" and so on the list goes from Genesis through Revelation. "New Testament" Bible books paint a new picture and you have never been told the Truth. Promises of being "changed in a twinkling of an eye" to arise to be with Jesus in Heaven were directed to the saints in Rome, to the saints in Ephesus, to the saints in Corinth. Are you a saint? When Jesus chose apostles he chose only 12 from among thousands of baptized Jewish believers. Later during Pentecost 120 believers received the gift of speaking in many tongues so they could give a Kingdom testimony to foreigners. 120, not everybody that had been baptized. Why is that? When John wrote the Revelation he disclosed a special number yet a 3rd time => 144,000 who would be a class of priests, and those are the saint's future not the majority of mankind {see 3 links back on Pg 7}.

John wrote of two resurrections, one first where the saints were brought to heavenly life followed later after the 1,000 year reign of Christ's Kingdom began where the rest of mankind is to be raised like Lazarus back to life on Earth. If you have not been told these things then whoever taught you scripture deleted half the Bible so they could tickle your ears like religious politicians being always in your pocket (pass the plate please). When Jesus told the thief beside him he would follow him to paradise that very day, Jesus was later laid in a tomb. The thief awakes like Lazarus into the 2nd resurrection, not an instant to heaven.

The Bible's 66 books are like a deck of cards. Some very wily men down through the past 2,000 years have shuffled the deck til it says what they tell you it says. They would want you to think these millenium-spanning prophecies of an earthly paradise have been replaced with a cloud-hopping airline ticket magic carpet ride to heaven. In doing that they have corrupted and violated their own Bible. If they had such a firm grasp on the keys to the kingdom why were they not given keys to my zero emission engines? Because they were not engineers? Neither am I.

Jesus Christ repeated the paradise prophecies in his beatitudes which have never been rescinded. In this "God's New World" you will be showered an overabundance of Energy sources to choose from according to your likes and dislikes. Your homes -after decades of "oh, baby, just give me one more chance" empty satchel political promises- will not be foreclosed on and re-posessed by the very carpetbaggers sold you the property in the first place nor by those who wrote the tricky contracts that took your child's first home.

All things are to be made new including you.
Real change is coming. Do not take the first offer.
No group of scientists can ever remake this planet.
Observe what they have done for the Earth in 100 years.
Overheating it to more earthquakes & hurricanes.
Over-correcting it into an Icy-Pop popsicle.
Deadzones in polluted oceans as dead as an ozone hole.

One year ago on August 31 2007 I released information explaining how most everyone can put the brakes on cancers. Did you hear about it yet? => <http://www.prleap.com/pr/91843>. No? A combination triple punch of #1 faith in Jehovah God #2 faith in my body to heal itself when #3a receiving the nutrients needed ("nutrition flooding") then being terminally kept dormant using #3b intermittent nutrition flooding ("interval megadosing") that prevents becoming vitamin-dependent. That battle took 4 weeks; and that 4 months later I was battling once again for my life for a straight 8 weeks against a powerful recurrence from dormancy of the Lyme's Disease Borelli bacteria that multiplied into and almost took over my spinal and brain fluids? I stopped a powerful cancer and Lyme's without antibiotics. I have done everything but pick up my cot and walked by the Grace of God and Jesus.

And I am still here? after multiple heart attacks? in 2 year's time? Perhaps God is blessing me for a reason to tell others.

Well then, I have to wonder what else you haven't heard if a nationwide Prleap News Release got squashed. The links to much of that level of new information is on <http://www.askinventor.com/>. The bounty and wealth that has been poured on me is a small portion of information what God has been pouring through the Watchtower Society and has planned for all of his people soon. Are you one? "Soon" can be evidenced by their writings plus my discoveries of pollution-free engine systems that use inert non-combustion fuels. Everything you want I already have and it came from God not a guidelines-deprived Manhattan godless think tank chasing fame fortune history book & movie rights. It was dumped all over us this manna from heaven while this roving extra-dimensional invisible angel/god named Satan tried to gas me to death with leaking heatpump freon planning my apartment to be my burial tomb.

Ever had Satan fill your tomb water for ya?
Match me or meet me => www.watchtower.org

Anyone wanting to learn Bible promises as they have always been and not the time-altered verses-deleted version should get a copy of the Watchtower Society publication titled => What Does the Bible Really Teach? from a local Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses or just stop by to talk. The book is laid out in a much better format than I can do here.

Hatred toward previous religions who failed to correctly run the course laid out by Christ Jesus is no excuse nor very wise.

I'm going to drive this home by subject.

Where does trillions of United States taxpayer dollars go anyway?

$45 trillion has been estimated might be needed over the next 50 years included in this June 06 2008 H-T report to address World Energy shortages and greenhouse emissions now choking major cities (the world and all life on it actually): "The agency's executive director, Nobuo Tanaka, called for "immediate policy action and technological transition on an unprecedented scale." Tanaka said the world "will essentially require a new global energy revolution which would completely transform the way we produce and use energy."

An early webpage I wrote in 2003 told exactly how to solve the Energy equation for homes "harness the sun on sunny days and the wind on stormy days". So it is not a crisis for answers but a crisis for answers besides the ones I GAVE THEM IN NUMEROUS NY TIMES POSTS over 4 and 5 years ago and other places. Looks like no one wanted my answers, or perhaps they just could not take hearing GOD has blessed us so much. I haven't been hiding or hordeing the instructions. I have been fully transparent with full disclosure about it.

Recently now in August another report was online saying $60 billion dollars will be required to overhaul the United States power grid system and yet another report states the windmill farm electrical output comes in tall spurts -"spikes"- the antiquated power grid system cannot possibly deal with as it is today.

They have an answer to that which amazingly sounds like they finally noticed my five-plus years of air-powered engine talk: windmills will push an air compressor that can turn the generator during the day's Peak Usage times. Amazing what "their" modern technology can do when it comes from them.

More trillion $ misery comes from keeping a healthcare system that piecemeals out my cancer and obesity solutions while they think I have fallen to stupor.

You are all being hammered. My projections were for each home to have its own sustaining Wind-Solar integrated combination systems, staying tied to the main power grid only for backup. It is keeping the old dinosaurs running around the track and making them chase down homers that is running into the billions and trillions of dollars. You are keeping the wrong systems repaired.

You may as well be a fetus in a petri tank with a hose running to your mouth. 120,000,000 homes could backfeed enough excess solar and wind energy into the local power substations -albeit with some work- to where the cumulative home-generated electric power would power the United States plus with the nuclear power plants that are already online.

Again, the "Crisis" they have you convinced is about to end all life on Earth was already solved years ago. They knew about me; they just kept it from you by muzzling their News Media knowing my being disabled kept me from doing a better PR job. Like everything else and what they are doing to you right now, they took advantage of the weak because they were working a national scam like Americans were the pancakes at a pancake eating contest.

So now they are gradually beginning to trickle my ideas to you, piecemealing them out slow enough that the economic stranglehold they have on your scrawny American necks (and the world by extension) is kept in economic slavery and bondage into your next children's generation and their grandchildren if at all possible. The only reason you are getting two-engine hybrid engineered cars now is from my pounding their faces into the mat for 5 solid years of online posting and web work, doing my Christian duty to relieve the suffering of my neighbors.

Facts they do not want you to know and mistakenly assume I will not tell you, except that I will to the glory of Jesus Christ my Saviour.

All cards on the table. You are not being saved by some Great Oz think tank. One man has been blessed by the God of the Bible to understand the deep subjects while in the middle of major health problems repeatedly trying to drive a stake in my heart and God would not let me die from medical ignorance practiced against me like their weapon of choice.

While presidential administrations came and went since my accident in 1989 I was writing about a system for using magnetic induction off the leading point of a lightning bolt down a metal pole that would have provided over 50% of America's electrical needs had the Department of Energy understood it, or had they not been bound and gagged by me being on somebody's erred blacklist or a consortium of religious discrimination bigots who feared my Witness beliefs.

And of course they also knew my Jehovah's Witness faith is to not be joined into any political movements, therefore figuring I would be a splash in the pan and they would be left at the breakfast table sopping up Grandma's biscuits and gravy plus every invention idea I had told them how to make and some they managed to steal to enrich their corporations. Thinking me completely powerless from doctors not treating my illnesses, leaving me to develop both arteriosclerosis and atherosclerosis and all the rest medical tires I have been running through, essentially being run over by a Tianenman Square bulldozer.

But something amazing happened to me. Last year as I laid down exhausted from writing, I breathed out my last breath as my head laid on the pillow. This was it, I thought but "it" did not last long. A power came into me that picked me up off the bed heart a-beating again and it wasn't a shot of adrenalin. I was tired, wanted to sleep; and I was ready to die. Not only did I jump from the bed I had more to write. For the next 8 hours this totally exhausted body that had been quite content to let go its last breath was writing some very good web pages.

Such is not the power of a deathly sick man.

So long as He was able to see I was intent on doing His Will i have been saved many more times since then as I was a lifetime before then. Because of my genetic and birth illnesses my immune system never worked very well, as evidence by my having full-blown Mumps of the neck glands two separate times in the 3rd Grade. My situation started a long time ago. I have failed many people and am reminded with regrets every day, but one thing I shall not ever regret is my failure to tell and speak the Truth about these glorious matters.

The utter complexity and widespread collusion that has been worked against Americans and people of all nationalities has been ongoing since 1989 when I first submitted the lightning tower grid system to the D.O.E. They turned it down, not because they studied over it but because they were unable and unwilling to read a hand- and type-written submission or for other reasons we cannot really know. And as you have already seen U.S. politicians know they do not have to fess up to anything...

They are driving you hard as a herd of cattle. You should not have to be 97% employed to be happy and pay your bills. You have to because they have set up the entire Energy Crises situation. Every so often they throw you a little hay to chomp on by adjusting their economic equations just enough to keep you from starving to death. There is more than enough Energy answers if they were set in motion. About 10 years ago a discovery in a lab was made. The solution to all heart disease had been set on a shelf "and forgot about".

The solution to all heart disease had been set on a shelf "and forgot about" for 10 years. Millions of Americans suffered all the circulatory diseases allowed to clobber me that began hitting me major hard in 2000 when I had 3 separate heart seizures in April, June and December, damaged my heart so much that in 2001 the staff at Lewis-Gale Hospital in Salem-Roanoke Virginia told me my heart muscle was occasionally reversing the beat order (like a '67 Plymouth I had that its engine had bounced backwards, which when it happens the engine has to be destroyed).

So what did the Lewis-Gale crack world class heart specialist team recommend for me? They did nothing. They sent me home to die. Would have worked too. Should have worked. God and his son had other ideas. Instead of dying the death of a dog being put to sleep by a veterinarian I somehow stayed alive. In November 2000 before that 3rd seizure I suddenly understood how to make my Wind Engine, a rather marvelous insight good enough for someone to use and not pay me too.

Which was what happened and perhaps what the heavenly powers planned needed to happen so that today I would be here to tell my story which also happens to be their success story more than my story, just the way they wanted it to unfold. So this Spring on May 20 after I was recovering from the accidental freon gassing; I was sitting resting and something smacked me in the chest hard and yet it did not hurt me. It felt as if a large diameter bolt was pulled out of my lower heart.

Maybe I should not tell you all these things but, since then my pulse has been around 60 beats a minute and blood pressure that of a 20 year old or better, so maybe you should want God to send an angel and smack your heart too. It is enough to make a person really believe in a future paradise once you realize and accept the true power and love this God way up somewhere in the universe still cares about us here and I can guarantee you He is very interested in each of us.

I'm not special; I'm a lifelong sick failure whose body temperature regularly skirts just a degree or so above hypothermia. It is all of you who are also sick that He cares enough to make sure I would tell you how to stop obesity and how to stop cancers, no matter what these wonderful political leaders do to you.

People ask important questions: When is Jesus coming again? In Jesus' day he was asked Lord, are you setting up your kingdom at this time? And now you are perhaps wondering if all my times being saved from illnesses -some the deadliest diseases of our day- are an indication. I think so because Jesus was asked (recorded at Luke 7:20-22) was he the promised one? His answer was the dead are being raised up, lepers being cleansed, and I've told you how to stop cancer since 9/2006. Why shouldn't this be a valid sign Jesus is here now?

We don't have much leprosy nowadays in the United States, having been replaced with cancer. As many times as I have told people how to stop cancer in various and many posts since September 2006, most people are not getting the news. The Prleap National News Release I made (link on previous page) had a space limitation so I had to be brief.

Let's stretch our legs a bit, walkabout & see if I can finally shed some light. Cancer is not usually something we catch like a cold. It is more a result from some source of repeated agitation to the cells. What people do not quite get yet is that our diet is a great source of agitation. Caffeines in coffee and soda speeds us up, pushing us to down some sugar cubes for quick energy.

After years of getting energy the easy way our cells become corrupted and less able to generate mitochondrial energy in the cells. We become sugar cripples from being addicted to caffeine. It is a vicious cycledown to zero. We get weak sick and die. Some of the corrupted cells lose their ability to stay regulated and start growing like a wild fire which we call malignancies or malignant cancer.

Add cigarette smoke (coal tar, naphthalene, 4,000 other deadly poisons) a lot other environmental carcinogens we bump into and plow through every day the agitation of cellular level bodies (and blood) what happens is the weakest of us get culled out of the herd.

The weakest of us. So the way to stop cancer from beginning -or stopping it to the point of dormancy if it has already begun- is to be less Weak. When my right chest was struck with a major cancer assault all the cells suddenly felt like they were dying from the mid-sternum over to including my right arm. At first I thought Naw, can't be, but by the next day it had gotten perhaps 200+% more intense, the intensity of a creeping cold of cell death. Being lifelong familiar with hypothermia sometimes near death in a truck sleeper, I knew this was worse.

Had I gone to these doctors, by the time I convinced them I was dying I would have been really bad off a sinking-fast tough save. I started piling in some nutrition products like Oxy-Nectar and hyaluronic acid and a great multivitamin-mineral that contains 3 forms of Oxide: Copper, Magnesium and Zinc (A THRU Z). I took so much nutrition my underarm lymph nodes began aching really bad when I realized what I was really doing: I was giving myself Home Chemo.

Cancer cells are real hungry & real thirsty. These antioxidant-loaded products were being delivered via the bloodstream to every cell in my body but only the gluttonous cancer cells were sopping it up like a sponge; healthy cells would only take what they needed or so and stop. I called this "nutrition flooding", and the cancer cells were being poisoned to death with too much vitamin-C-laden berries in the Oxy-Nectar. I called that "giving them an internal acid burn".

If my information had been passed by word of mouth, by now cancer patients all over the world would be doing much better off. However, the professionals who saw my instructions for stopping cancers {or at least slowing them down to the point of dormancy} had to make the call and they called out for Money not saved lives. They saw their careers going down the drain at the hands of one gifted and blessed Christian scientist.

They joined the others who were already hording my Energy solutions.

So friends, here we are anticipating Jesus' arrival in power and glory so obviously near by these "signs of his presence" that all these people are keeping my information as best they can stuffed in a can while you do without or rot to death from cancer in their expensive hospital wards, while the winter is approaching and you barely able to afford to stay warm, all the while thinking and believing "they" are working as hard as they can to save you.

A lot of them think you are a whiner, or that since you live in America you should walk around all happified like a dunce brain freezing to the point of frostbite in northern states but at least you are Free. So long as you avoid totalling up all those $45 trillions and $60 billions to the subsidizing of failed airplane designs and other modes of rail transportation you pay for whether you can ever afford a ticket or not.

Old technologies never get replaced that way. But imagine that! Paying for stuff you never use because it is "good for the country" when all it is is another Friday paycheck drain. You will never get for instance anti-Gravity flying vehicles so long as the FAA rules bar them from the air your money to buy one siphoned away to pay for the old ways. Never gonna happen. They are all too deeply entrenched and interwoven into the government tax-ya-for-life fabric.

If these people were not all fighting me you would be very rich. Even your poor would be rich. Affordable health care? Whew. How about healthcare you can walk in and pay for without insurance, ever think of that? If your home was now being powered by Sun and Wind or perhaps a Gravity wheel instead, a car fueled by mixing compressed air with steam as I have many times outlined to be artificial and imitation (contrived, choreographed) energy (askinventor index and newpath4.com), every desire of your heart would be close to being reality.

The misery and suffering you are living in today is keeping everyone employed. Criss-cross as Danny Devito said in Throw Momma from the Train: Criss-Cross. The rat race gets pretty rough when your FDA approves your food and drink be filled with stuff your body identifies & exhausts itself fighting as invaders, stuff that ushers you toward the grave to make way for fresh workers.

I know, I was there fighting to stay alive right beside you in the real trenches that have been dug for us by our own runaway non-accountable government bureaucracy so they keep their wheelbarrows loaded and lotteries rolling {supposed to reduce taxes} as they hold out more & more carrot promises they are working real hard to make sure you have a job every day.

How sweet. Laughing about being in a rat race and finally knowing for certain your leaders have worked things around so you live the life of that rat are two different animals. But people suspected as much anyway every time we see Europeans taking 6-week summer vacations to actually have a life... while the really smart and supremely well-paid rat masters sit at radio microphones half the day and all night entertaining everybody on the Titanic.

Babies in Appalachia without food, shoes, breathing coal dust drinking water with coal dust residues as a nearby mountaintop is exploding. Hmm, sounds like the 1968 Tet Offensive in Vietnam. Can babies get post traumatic stress disorder?

You betcha. I had it.

If you still choose to believe in any system of government besides God's Kingdom knowing now just how much they have complicated your life and stifled everything to a doled-out pace they want to last forever, keeping you swooning over a 50-hour workweek, that is your decision. My choice is God's Kingdom even when incurring the wrath of Satan that has struck my family members and myself all our lives Jehovah the true God of all things and all life and including this living planet these dictator wannabees have caused, I have been even further blessed to be able to figure out some weight control solutions & Obesity.

I placed many solutions over many blogs and NY times, SlashDot and others telling numerous ways to lessen the problem. They too have been horded out of your sight. Too many people make money off you being obese & overweight. If you get healthy the whole system of cards might collapse. I proposed using abortion clinics in a second capacity as weightloss surgery centers. Zip. I also proposed the fat that is cut off be used for high octane source of fuel. Zip.

In 1996 or so I had a sudden inspiration to direct angled-to-intersect radio half-beams through people's skin angled to where they would combine in the fat layer, heat the adipose fat cells to where they would expand and rupture, killing the fat cells totally without harm to the patient. Sent it to the company that makes the magnetic resonance imaging machines to "map" the person's fatty areas first then trace back with the slightly heating rays. Zip.

Although I did propose one method of dissolving fat with "botox-like" injections of fat-dissolving chemicals. It was adopted. It is called Mesotherapy link page4.

The fact that a number of my ideas and web pages containing them were legally U.S. Copyrighted has not been a deterrent. Doctors and cancer researchers and labs know I have no ability to press any legal lawsuits because I live in Virginia. Laws were passed here to put caps on lawsuits so any lawyer worth 2 cents left the state long ago or are otherwise out of my jurisdiction to find.

They also do not need any new industry here like would have come from many of my innovations because they decided to hunker down and protect the tobacco industry. Besides, they know anyone with a major cancer will die and not be sticking around long to make it known how they poisoned a baby as he slept inside the womb drinking in Pall Malls and Salems 1950's unfiltered killer chemical garbage they sold to as many pregnant women they could since their paid doctors swore on a Bible the placental barrier protected the fetus from prenatal damage.

Here's the deal on Obesity.

Are you familiar with the "hole theory" of electricity? It would be helpful if you were. Most every diet you ever tried would probably have worked better than it did. It wasn't that you lacked willpower nearly as much as you lacked understanding and the proper sequence.

A long time ago people would jump from bed in the morning and do all kinds of chores like feeding animals, getting the hen eggs. The husband might do some plowing before breakfast, also before the sun got high in the sky. Then eat. Thus creating a calorie deficit before they added in food. But in the 1950's when fast food theory hit America, the companies needed to keep people eating before they worked up a hunger.

So we were told blasted all over the TV set that the proper way to eat was to eat your meal "so you would have energy to run on". That was how we got hooked on needing caffeine and sugar, by eating first then doing something, unless we later changed our mind deciding to take a glucose meter nap. Then it all began turning to fat since we didn't metabolize it.

Our health was corrupted by "not waiting for it".

Our cells went into lazy mitochondria function because there was no need for them to exercise. They knew that soon enough we would dump in something sweet or having plenty of animal fats (lard used back then, pre-margarine). That was where we all got turned toward the cattle chute marked Rats Enter Here. Millions of tons dumped into our food of artificial flavorings & colorings, preservatives, so they could store food for years so stuffed with the junk they couldn't rot in Havana or Tijuana or on a tropics barge passing Sao Paulo Brazil.

All of us living today are in one heck of a mess. I used to watch my poor old Dad walking down the hill after work. With his busted up and frozen legs from where he fell through the surface snow in the Aleutian Islands Alaska. And you know what? He walked a sight bit better than many now, half stumbling down the steep hill to our house at 4966 Hazelridge Road.

The Bible tells me what I needed to do so I started writing these pages to keep you from following false messiahs whether they be religious or political => "Deliver them that are carried away unto death, and those that are ready to be slain see that thou hold back." My scientific observations are not needed to see that we are all being carried and swept by rushing waters of unrealistic promises of Energy Peace and Security.

Herded like cattle, jammed in like sheep waiting for some personal time at the guillotine rack. Being left to suffer the indignities of poor health when there are answers, ravaged by diseases I stopped 2 and a half years ago that has been held off your plate, leaving you watching even more loved ones waste away and people commenting on your size fat pig. This is nothing but evil on the hoof, an ongoing degradation of mankind and womankind and their children. This worldwide hidden behind closed doors coverup conspiracy has become an ingrained habit that betrays its one real leader => Satan, the manslayer.

Health Mix:

Mix up a homemade trail mix {minus all the preservatives and other junk} plenty of oatmeal; raisins to get a quality fruit for the day. Cook it about half way, add some Cream of Wheat, sprinkle on some cinnamon sugar for blood sugar regulation. Satiety => calming of the food cravings will be a natural and wonderful feeling for you, a feeling of control without even trying.

There are so many tricks, like Calcium Pyruvate that aids weightloss. Point being, give your stomach and intestines something to work on for 6-7 hours, healthy stuff with some Wheat Germ Oil to lube up your joints and a bit of virgin coconut oil that is a natural anti-microbial.

Lean yourself down if possible to a level where if a flu virus or Lyme's bacteria or Avian Flu enters your body you will consume them as the rich protein food source they are before they have time to enter into your skeletal muscles. This planet provides us food in the air we breathe. Alkaline-raising foods also raise oxygen, which powers up the Immune System to hold anaerobic disease organisms to a controlled level. Swimming underwater or sometimes holding a breath a bit as you climb stairs or lay in a hospital bed, all these are self-hyperbarics that raise oxygen to help your body on the way toward becoming a germ-burning disease-killing cholesterol-eating machine.

The end is near, the end of this document where I have attempted to detail the misery and suffering that have been heaped upon us. Many millions have died. The Good News (Gospel) is that Jesus Christ has been busy taking action to provide people the tools they need to figure out who the bad guys are. I have shown you some of them to help you climb out of this satan trap life.

There is a lot more coming, stuff these money mongers would dole out to ya as long as they can delay it. Keep giving you cars that break in 10 years when I have shown on my websites how to build an air-steam engine unparalleled in human history that will likely be perking right along 50+ years later using the very same water and air that was loaded into it when it started running.

No pollution; no emissions; not even a tailpipe; nothing comes out: it is a closed engine system. But if you had my engines you would not have a monthly electric bill. That would reduce the size of the war chests we just have to have. And look at all the unemployed people able to study or play street ball with their kids, not having to delay til their grandkids instead after they "retire".

We miss so much of life working all the time to "get ahead" when in reality the game is rigged for us to only get ahead so much. The house always wins. No one hardly has time to learn the Bible's promises or see how finely they integrate together into the finest silk. So you take whatever religious beliefs were handed down to you, not realizing how much they have improvised, forgotten, shoved aside.

The new world coming is promised to the Meek who take the time to learn about God's New World, how it has always been promised. No one has the right to deprive you of it. With a generous helping of God's Grace and undeserved kindness you now have blessings to run with, improve your life to a fantastic level and enter into and run a real race {Hebrews 12:1 "great cloud of witnesses run with endurance the race that is set before us".
